About me

Hey there, I am John Muller a junior software engineer and graphic designer. I am 20 years old, I still studying IT (Information Technology) at MCAST (Malta college Art, Sciences, & technology). I did not work as a developer or in this path before, but I have a lot of experience in IT and software development for almost 4 years, but I start focusing on it the last two after I have finished high school. I am interested in desktop and machine learning development, but I am still growing up at this part, but though I am advanced in web development and graphic design on all sizes and platforms, I am able to build a website x3 times faster than other developers, also I am able to analyze flowchart and ERDs. As well I am experienced in hardware, networking, and clouding server side.
If would you like to check out my website to know more about me and see my projects.
